Social Events

Mrs. A. L. Stone entertained Tuesday afternoon at her home in this city with tea. The centerpiece of the table was a unique creation representing a miniature lake, arranged by the use of a cut glass bowl of flowers set upon a mirror, giving a most perfect effect. Those present were: Mrs. W. R. Dinham, Mrs. William Ross, Mrs. C. B. Mann, Mrs. E. A. Ross, Mrs. J. H. Cronkite, Mrs. Edwin Ross, Mrs. L. G. Titus, Mrs. W. H. Eakin, and the hostess.

Ten little folks were entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brown, in Columbia Park, last Saturday afternoon in honor of their son Harold's fifth birthday. Favors were white Easter rabbits and downy chicks. Miss Keturah Dixon assisted Mrs. Brown in serving refreshments and otherwise entertaining. Those present were Clifford Chittim, Ethel Dixon, Ercel Stanwood, Mabel St. Jacques, Naoma Chittim, Gladys Barton, Patricia Dixon, Clarence Nichols, Arnold St. Jacques.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Ross, of this city, celebrated the fifteenth anniversary of their wedding last Saturday night at their home, surrounded by a large number of relatives and intimate friends. Mr. and Mrs. Ross were married at Marshall, Wis., March 21, 1900, hence last Sunday was their crystal wedding day. They came to St. Helens in 1910 and have formed a large circle of friends who join in wishing them much future happiness. They received many appropriate and useful presents. The home, upon the occasion of their anniversary celebration, was tastefully decorated in yellow and white. Those present at the dinner were: Mr. and Mrs. William Ross, Dr. and Mrs. L. G. Ross, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Stone and daughter, Mrs. Minnie Doleshal, Mrs. E. F. Keller, Harold and Cecil Ross, Harriett and Charles Ross, the host and hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. Dillard gave a "Good Luck" party in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Williams on Friday, the 19th. Three tables of "500" were played, the card prize, a unique polished wood tray, being awarded to Mrs. C. H. John. The doors and mantles were festooned with four leaf clovers. Supper was served by candlelight, a pink color scheme being carried out by the table decorations of Japanese quince, peach blossoms and candles. The place cards were four leaf clovers on which appropriate quotations were inscribed. The honor guest chairs were marked by silver horseshoes. An appropriate reading, "Were Living Down by the Sounding Sea," was given as an enlivening part of the entertainment. The guests invited to bid Mr. and Mrs. Williams farewell and wish them "good luck" were: Dr. and Mrs. Edwin Ross, Mr. and Mrs. David Davis, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. John, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest John, Mr. H. W. White and Dorothy John.

The complimentary concert given Monday night at the Assembly Hall by Dr. Emil Enna and the Philharmonic Society was one of the most pretentious musicals yet given in this city. The public should appreciate Dr. Enna's initiative in bringing out so acceptably the musical talent of our home people. Dr. Enna's opening number was "Allegro" by Salatti, which was followed by a suite of pieces, six in number, entitled "One Thousand Lakes," descriptive of scenery and life among the "Thousand Lakes" of southern Finland, by the early Finnish composer Sibelius. Dr. Enna combines with his acknowledged ability as a concert pianist the enthusiasm essential to success. The cantata, Cowen's "A Daughter of the Sea," was a whole an unprecedented success, the solo parts being well sustained by Mrs. Walter Williams and Mrs. Sandifur, soprano, and Miss Leona Perkins, contralto. Mrs. Dodd, Mrs. L. R. Rutherford and Mrs. Wilbur Muckle complete the membership of the club. That all might have a clear conception of the theme of the cantata, Mrs. Dillard, by request, gave an original paraphrase of the poem, which is a fairy story in lyric form.

Episcopal Church.

The people of this city were favored by a visit from Bishop Sumner, of the Oregon Episcopal diocese, on Thursday evening, when that gentleman conducted services in Christ's church. The particular occasion for the Bishop's visit was to conduct confirmation service, there being four members in the class. The ladies of the Guild prepared and served a sumptuous dinner, which was partaken of at 5:30 in the Guild hall, in which about seventy-five members of the church and Guild participated, and the church was filled to hear the Bishop speak. Bishop Sumner presented a most forceful argument for better Christian conditions in the land, and appealed strongly to the citizenship to support Christian work everywhere. Bishop Sumner is a young, vigorous, forceful man, thoroughly imbued not alone with the work of the church but for the betterment of conditions in civic and political affairs. He has undertaken a great work in Oregon and his power will be felt for the betterment of humanity. The church was tastefully decorated and special music was rendered.
